DEMONSTRATED SUCCESS

Improving student learning by helping teachers do what they love

At Demonstrated Success, we know that adopting new technologies in schools can be overwhelming. That's why our customer-friendly interface and tailored implementation support are the cornerstones of ESP, our secure, cloud-based operational management system. Designed for teachers by teachers, the Educator Success Platform (ESP) is not a student information or learning management system. It is a unique system designed to streamline school operations.

ESP's four features include: 1. online teacher evaluation 2. instructional rubric development 3. survey design and execution and 4. school form creation. ESP gives teachers and administrators the gift of time because it efficiently organizes procedures that often take teachers away from teaching and administrators away from their roles as instructional leaders. Schools can purchase a bundled package or choose each feature "a la carte" to pay for just what is needed.

The system's flexibility goes well beyond its pricing. In ESP, you can select a standard template, easily edit an existing one, or create a new one from scratch. The system is adaptive and expandable. As your school's needs grow, ESP can reduce your reliance on multiple systems, saving you both time and money.

ESP eases workflow and communication with all stakeholders, from administration to teachers to student to parents. There's no more pushing paper because all documents are safeguarded and shared via email.

TEACHER EVALUATION

The evaluative feedback tool is as customizable and flexible as other ESP features. Whether you use Charlotte Danielson, Robert Marzano, Kim Marshall, or another evaluative framework, your formal and informal staff evaluations can all be completed with the easy-to-use, cloud-based Educator Success Platform. Simply work from an existing or self-created rubric, grab your hand-held device and begin your walk-throughs. ESP can help you schedule classroom visits and set up reminder notifications so that you don't miss that essential time in classrooms. Teachers can access their evaluations, include a response and ask colleagues to provide peer feedback. Aggregate reports highlight performance trends across your entire organization to target professional development and improve instruction.

INSTRUCTIONAL RUBRICS

Autonomy is important to the art of teaching; however, consistency, equity and structure are also essential to increase validity of student learning. ESP can help with that critical consistency by allowing users to create rubrics for common grading and common best practices, such as:

- Instructional feedback rubrics that help teachers establish inter-rater reliability when they review student work or assess student performance.
- Teacher best practice rubrics that guide work such as PLC collaboration, assessment development or intervention strategy implementation.
- Informal classroom observation rubrics that can be leveraged for peer or mentor observations.
- Student facing rubrics that allow students to reflect on their work and capture a student portfolio.

With all rubrics, the ESP system enables hover text to allow developers to provide examples or descriptions for increased clarity and better reliability.

SURVEY DESIGN

Fostering a positive culture and climate in schools is essential to a successful school community. It helps children feel safe, builds trust between parents and staff, and increases teacher efficacy. ESP offers a comprehensive approach by enabling schools to collect valuable climate data from all stakeholders while actively engaging students and teachers in culture and climate transformation. ESP offers a variety of surveys, including nationally-normed, in-house, or school-created surveys. Users can administer these surveys as anonymous or tracked and access immediate reporting. Experienced Demonstrated Success trainers are available to help analyze your data and create an actionable improvement plan.

CUSTOMIZABLE FORMS

Are you tired of chasing down permission slips? Searching through folders for RTI forms? Are you looking for an improved process to track and approve professional development? ESP helps your school operate more efficiently with features that:

- Distribute, complete and store forms online.
- Create anonymous or tracked surveys and permission slips.
- Monitor completion of forms in real-time.
- Aggregate responses, enabling you to analyze data for faster decision-making.
